Welcome, to stay connected to your loved ones while travelling

Welcome, the indoor security camera with face recognition technology, brings peace of mind to frequent travelers. The camera puts names to the faces it sees. Welcome notifies the user exactly who is at home, their loved ones or a stranger.

Even when far from home or in another time zone, busy travelers can stay connected to their family with Welcome: they know when their kids are back from school, if they invited friends over or if the nanny came as planned.

Welcome also lets you know that everyone is safe at home: users are immediately alerted if a stranger enters the home or if a smoke alarm is triggered.
